"Many people often assume that learning mental arithmetic is merely a method to improve the speed and accuracy of calculations, for example adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing multi digit numbers to LCM, GCM to valuating equations within a few seconds. When the children have acquired an astonishing calculation speed, it is actually only the end result of having developed concentration, observation, visualization, imagination and memory."

CHALLENGE THE FEAR OF MATH!

Come and learn the ancient art of Abacus. You will learn to use your hands to move the beads on the ABACUS in combinations and convert a picture to numbers. As you progress through levels you will begin to visualize the imaginary Abacus and move the beads to perform "Mental Math". We help children to develop multiple skills such as photographic memory, total concentration, improved imagination, analytical skills, enhanced observation and cognitive thinking. Outcomes include improved speed and accuracy in math.
