Learn to type or improve abilities!

Our instructor will begin the class with a short lesson on a different aspect of correct typing; guiding the class to make sure each scholar is using proper technique.

Following the lesson, scholars will have time to work through computer lessons continuing to develop their skills each week. After completing the set number of lessons, reviewing, and testing out of a skill, scholars will be allowed to continue enhancing their capabilities by playing various typing games.

This is a self-paced course. Our instructor will be available to offer tips as students work their way through the lessons and tests.

This class has a 20-student maximum.

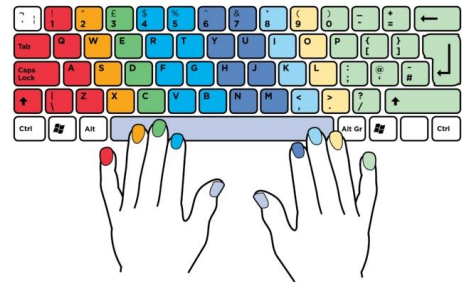

Note: Because this is a self-paced class, it is not required to participate in the earlier sessions of Keyboarding in order to participate in sessions offered later in the year.
