II. School Vision, Mission Statement, and Educational Philosophy

The mission of Parnassus Preparatory School is to provide students with a classical education, grounded in the classical Trivium, that demands their best in intellectual achievement and character development.

A classical education cultivates wisdom and virtue by nourishing the individual with truth, beauty, and goodness. Students at Parnassus Preparatory School pursue wisdom and virtue at every level and in each of the many disciplines offered to them. Parnassus Preparatory School’s academic focus is on developing thoughtful, literate, and expressive graduates through classical education, a time-tested model that is systematic and comprehensive. Our classical curriculum, grounded in the liberal arts, distinguishes us from other educational institutions.

The classical Trivium and the instructional methods used in each school address children’s developmental stages, challenging them to reach their highest potential at each and every level. Parnassus Preparatory School’s educational philosophy is that all students benefit from the highest standards of academic integrity and a rigorous, content-based educational program that develops their intellectual capacity and personal character. Through evidence-based instructional methods that are aligned with the classical Trivium, the use of history as the chronological backbone of the curriculum, and the integration of the humanities and advanced sciences, the school provides an environment that fosters academic excellence and builds the habits of discipline and perseverance to complete challenging tasks.

Executive Director and Head of School

Ms. Constance Ford, Executive Director

Ms. Ford is the current and founding Executive Director of Parnassus Preparatory School. Under her leadership, Parnassus has more than tripled its enrollment and the school has expanded to include all three levels of the Schools of Grammar, Logic, and Rhetoric. Ms. Ford spearheaded Parnassus' extensive multimillion-dollar building project in 2017 to create the school's beautiful 147,000 square-foot campus. A pioneer in the charter school movement for over twenty years, Ms. Ford's emphasis has been on classical charter schools. She was a founder of the first classical charter school in the neighboring state of Wisconsin and of one of the first charter schools in her region. During her tenure, the school was one of the top charter schools in Wisconsin based on academic performance, low staff and student attrition, and high overall standards. Additionally, Ms. Ford served on an advisory committee that reviewed new charter school applications and charter application renewals for over sixteen schools. Ms. Ford holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Art History from Lawrence University and a Master of Arts Degree in Educational Leadership.

V. Academic Programming & Performance

Innovative Practices and Implementation

The Trivium stages of Grammar, Logic, and Rhetoric require different and innovative teaching methods depending on the stage and maturity level of the students. For example, in the Grammar stage (levels Prima through 4G) instructors focus on providing students with content using direct instruction, memorization techniques such as singing and chanting, group memorization, dictation, and recitation. In the Logic stage, students start asking, “Why?” to ensure that what they have learned in the Grammar stage is in fact true. Teaching techniques include asking leading questions to stimulate students’ critical thinking and arrive at valid conclusions. The Socratic Method of questioning is heavily emphasized during instruction at this level. In the Rhetoric stage, teaching techniques include a heavy reading load, discussions, debates, and emphasis on supporting one’s opinions with researched facts and logical reasoning. The Socratic Method and Harkness discussion style are at the forefront of instruction in the School of Rhetoric.

Parnassus is one of the few schools, public or private, to practice the Harkness discussion method, also known as “Harkness Table”, for discussion-led instruction. The Harkness method incorporates teaching in seminar style for the advancement of learning in the School of Rhetoric. An authentic Harkness table is a large, oval table used in a style of teaching where students sit at the table with a teacher. However, the Harkness table is much more than a place to sit. Teachers participate and guide students in discussions, encouraging them to take ownership of their learning. The method is in use at many top American private schools and boarding schools, as well as at colleges and universities. It encourages classes to be held in a discursive manner. This collaborative discussion method can be traced back to Socrates, approximately 2,400 years ago. The Harkness teaching method is related to the Socratic Method and Socratic Circles, approaches already familiar to scholars entering the School of Rhetoric.

Parnassus’ language program is innovative as the school was the first institution, public or private, in the Northwest Metro area to require the study of both the Latin and Greek languages in addition to Spanish. Latin forms the root of 90% of polysyllabic English words and over 60% of all English words, and eight percent of all English words are Greek based. A student’s reading comprehension, writing, and speaking skills are substantially improved by studying Latin and Greek. Vocabulary is enriched, grammar is sharpened, and a sense of organization, structure, and logic is instilled in the student. In addition, Latin contributes to about 80% of the vocabulary of the Romance languages: French, Italian, Portuguese, Romanian, and Spanish – facilitating the study of these modern languages. Moreover, studies have shown that students of Latin have higher SAT scores than students of any other language. Parnassus students begin their study of Latin in Prima and add Greek in the School of Rhetoric.

In addition to the study of Latin and Greek, the school also believes it is important for well-rounded scholars to study a modern world language. As such, Parnassus begins teaching Spanish at the Prima level and continues it through the School of Rhetoric. Not only is Spanish considered to be one of the most functional spoken languages in contemporary American society, but it is also a direct descendent of Latin which makes it a perfect complement to Parnassus scholars’ classical language studies.

Gifted and Talented Programming

As a charter school, Parnassus Preparatory School is a school of choice, and we recognize that families choose us for our rigorous academic programming. As Parnassus strongly believes that all students benefit from a content-rich, rigorous curriculum that holds students to the highest standards of intellectual achievement and character development, Parnassus does not identify Gifted and Talented students or offer a specialized Gifted and Talented track. Instead, the focus is on providing all students with the most rigorous course offerings and a variety of enrichment activities in our interdisciplinary curriculum.

Parnassus does not currently offer early admission to Prima (Kindergarten). Occasionally, a student’s exceptional academic abilities and maturity may merit whole-grade acceleration to 1G (1st grade) or beyond. To advise all families of this opportunity, Parnassus publishes its policies for whole-grade acceleration and early admission to Prima (Kindergarten) on the school website.

Professional Development

Developing the staff in the classical model and pedagogy is paramount to Parnassus Preparatory School's success as a Classical school and to fulfilling its mission. Recognizing the importance of professional development, in 2020-2021, Parnassus continued to provide training and development opportunities for faculty and staff in the following areas:

- 1) Parnassus' Classical education model
- 2) Direct Instruction
- 3) Data-Driven Instruction
- 4) Writing
- 5) Reading and literacy
- 6) Socratic and Harkness discussion methods
- 7) Cultural Competency

As part of the school's strategy to accomplish its mission, it is a Parnassus tradition to include summer readings for the staff. The School holds discussions of the assigned works during the back-to-school workshop and training. The required summer readings include classic works of literature from the Parnassus curriculum as well as academic and research-based books and articles. The School holds additional book discussions for the Board, parents, and community. Being well read is an integral part of Parnassus' culture. During the past school year, the school's colloquium series continued. The colloquium series invites professors and other scholars (including Parnassus teachers) to present lectures and discussions at Parnassus for the school's students, staff, and community.

Equitable Access to Excellent Teachers

On June 1st, 2015, MDE submitted a plan to the U.S. Department of Education that required all states to address long term needs for improving equitable access of all students to excellent educators. The Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) requires states to evaluate and publicly report whether low-income and minority students are disproportionately served by ineffective, out-of-field, or inexperienced teachers.

Equitable Access to Experienced, Effective, and In-Field Teachers

Parnassus is proud to serve a racially and economically diverse student population, and the school strives to provide an education that is both excellent and equitable to all students, regardless of race or socioeconomic status. Care is taken to ensure that class rosters are balanced between various student groups and special populations. After reviewing data, including course rosters detailing students' race/ethnicity, primary home languages, gender, and socioeconomic statuses, the school did not find any gaps related to equitable access to effective teachers for students of color, nor were any found for low income students. Parnassus takes care to ensure that all students, regardless of background, are placed with the teachers who will be able to help them make the most academic gains. One-hundred percent of Parnassus students, including all of students of color, students receiving EL services, and students receiving Special Education services, had access to experienced, in-field, effective teachers.

Regular review of course rosters and the demographic details of incoming students allows the school to effectively create balanced rosters. Additionally, screening incoming Prima (kindergarten) students allows the school to be more intentional in creating class lists to ensure that classes are generally balanced between genders, ethnic backgrounds, and academic abilities so that students have equitable access to high-quality teachers.

Parnassus works extensively with all staff members and provides intensive, ongoing professional development to all teachers to ensure that our faculty meets our high standards for instructional effectiveness and academic rigor. This includes training on our pedagogical and classroom management practices to ensure consistency across classrooms and grade levels. Teachers are observed regularly throughout the year and classroom data are closely monitored to support the success of all students.

Teacher performance data is reviewed regularly to monitor and gauge the effectiveness of instruction. These instructional data, along with regular classroom observations, help determine teacher effectiveness. Along with teacher effectiveness, teachers' years of experience, licensure, and qualifications are considered when deciding course and class placement. For critical, skill-based subjects such as math and reading, Parnassus places its most qualified and effective teachers with its at-risk students.

Access to Diverse Teachers

Parnassus continues to make a conscious effort to broaden the diversity of its staff so that it better reflects the diversity of our student population. While over 63% of Parnassus 2020-2021 scholars were students of color, just 8% of Parnassus' licensed teaching staff in 2020-2021 were individuals of color. Efforts currently in place to broaden the diversity of teachers in the school include making connections with student teacher programs, broadening the range of the geographical areas in which we post for open teaching and administrative positions, and increasing the number of locations online where we solicit applications for teaching jobs.

VII. Operational Performance and Finances

Parnassus Preparatory School is required to operate under a charter agreement with an entity that has been approved by the Minnesota Department of Education (MDE) to be a charter school authorizer. The authorizer monitors and evaluates the School's performance and determines whether to renew the School's charter. Parnassus is in good standing with its authorizer, Friends of Education, and has received a five-year charter contract renewal which began on July 1st, 2019.

Processes implemented by the board, administrators, and staff ensured overall timeliness regarding compliance with applicable laws and MDE reporting requirements. Parnassus Preparatory School strives to be completely compliant with MDE reporting and regulations, including submitting reports such as the Annual Report/World's Best Work Force, DIRS reporting, MARSS data, etc. Parnassus school representatives regularly attend required MDE training. Parnassus followed state and local health and safety requirements and is compliant with fire code, inspections, and other safety requirements. The school regularly conducts all emergency fire, severe weather, and lockdown drills and was compliant with all requirements.

During the 2020-2021 school year, Parnassus provided daily transportation through contracted busing services to 598 students on sixteen bus routes throughout our service area including Anoka, Blaine, Brooklyn Park, Brooklyn Center, Champlin, Coon Rapids, Corcoran, Crystal, Hamel, Maple Grove, New Hope, Osseo, Plymouth, Ramsey, and St. Michael. The number of students utilizing busing was lower in 2020-2021 than in a normal school year, as a large number of students were still in distance learning, and buses had capacity limits to ensure distance between students.

The school transitioned from having an unaffiliated building company, C. S. Property Parnassus, to an affiliated building company, Parnassus Building Company, as landlord during the 2020-2021 school year.

Future Plans

The Parnassus academic, cultural, financial, and governance goals are outlined in the school's Continued School Improvement Plan (CSIP), which is posted on the school's website. Student achievement, college preparation, and the development of well-rounded scholars and citizens remains the school's priority. The Parnassus graduate has a unique profile that includes a solid knowledge base across all the humanities and sciences, extensive study of Spanish and Latin, and training in Attic Greek, formal logic, and Socratic questioning, along with a thorough study of the Western Canon. Parnassus students are inveterate readers who love the written word and are trained to read critically, analyze effectively, and to form and defend opinions based on knowledge and thought.

Parnassus Preparatory School has conducted ongoing needs assessment activities to measure the academic, social, and mental health impacts that students have faced as a result of lost instructional time due to the Covid-19 pandemic. The school has gathered, and will continue to gather and evaluate, both quantitative data and qualitative feedback from students, families, and other stakeholders. Quantitative data sources include student absences and related causes, student scores on local assessments, student scores on state- and nationally normed assessments, rates of work completion, student academic performance, and student behavioral records, as well as survey and focus group data. Qualitative feedback includes long-form responses to surveys, written correspondence, public comment, as well as feedback gleaned from open Zoom meetings with school administration, where families and other stakeholders can ask questions and give comment.

The key findings of the initial phase of the ongoing needs assessment show a marked need for academic support and enrichment opportunities outside of the school day, both for learning recovery and for students to be motivated and engaged with their learning and with one another. This includes support with homework, remedial instruction in skill-based subjects, and the ability to engage with the arts, science, and other areas of the school's curriculum outside of the school day to spur students' academic engagement and learning recovery. Each year, the Parnassus leadership team will continue to re-evaluate students' academic, social, and mental health needs and adjust the school's response accordingly.

The Parnassus administration and staff will continue to review student performance data to measure academic growth and learning recovery. The school will administer the Stanford Achievement Test, Tenth Edition (SAT10s) to students in the Second Level Grammar (2G) through Fourth Level Logic (4L) levels for the second year. The SAT10 national assessment is well suited for our school's focus on factual knowledge, cultural literacy, and rigorous content across the liberal arts. Parnassus will also continue to offer access to IXL for our scholars in 3G-4L, as well as some students in the School of Rhetoric, as a resource for standards-aligned, skill-based reading, math, and science practice. Additionally, the school will continue to offer free ACT test preparation and practice for scholars in the Fourth Level Logic (4L) through Third Level Rhetoric (3R) including sessions with targeted practice for each section of the exam: English, Mathematics, Reading, and Science.

Executive Financial Summary

For the fiscal year ending June 30th, 2021, Parnassus Preparatory School (the School) recorded revenues of $15.11 million, expenditures of $14.46 million, and an increase in the fund balance of $648,397. A total of 1286 students were served, which is an increase of 6% from last year's total of 1215 students.

The School's solid financial position continues to allow it to deliver on their mission. Parnassus once again met its goal of maintaining a 25% fund balance (as a percentage of expenditures), while investing in its program and meeting all financial commitments to bondholders. Parnassus Preparatory School's financial position remains strong.

Analysis of Revenues and Expenditures

The following table shows revenues and expenditures over the last two years. Like all public schools, the School uses government fund accounting. For the School, the funds used are the General Fund (revenues and expenses related to instruction and running the school), the Food Service Fund (revenues and costs for lunch, breakfast, and snacks) and the Community Fund (community service activities and programs).

	2021				2020
	Total	General	Food Service	Community	Total	General	Food Service	Community
Revenue	15,106,103	14,930,754	152,130	23,219	13,110,583	12,745,416	277,524	87,643
Expenditures	14,457,706	14,282,236	139,672	35,798	12,806,140	12,439,859	278,375	87,906
Transfers	-	(12,579)	-	12,579	-	(1,114)	851	263
Surplus	648,397	635,939	12,458	-	304,443	304,443	-	-

Analysis of Revenues

Total revenue in financial year 2021 was $15.11 million, up 15.3% from 2020. The School's per-pupil funding in 2021 increased 8.9% to $11,747 per student. This per-pupil revenue growth reflects federal grant assistance for operations during the pandemic, as well as a 2.0% increase in per-pupil funding from the state and the continued relatively higher growth in enrollment in the School of Rhetoric. As Federal funding for pandemic related expenses recede the School expects per-pupil revenue to come down.

The demographic and economic makeup of the student population of any school also has an impact on per-student funding. In fiscal year 2021, the School served a Free and Reduce population just over 27% of students with approximately 5% Special Education students and 7% English Language Learners (ELL). The School's enrollment reflects its commitment to serve all students in its demographic area.

Analysis of Expenditures

In the fiscal year, ending June 30th, 2021, total expenditures were $14.46 million, up 13% from 2020. The School's overall per-student expenditures in 2021 were $11,242, up 6.7% from 2020. Focusing on the General Fund, which includes the bulk of the School's revenue, per-student expenditure was $11,106 and represents a 8.5% increase over 2020. This growth in General Fund spending per pupil represents the School's commitment to classical education as well as use of federal grant assistance for distance learning and pandemic related expenditures.

As noted above, Parnassus Preparatory School's strong financial position allows the school to focus on its mission of delivering a classical education. A key part of that is providing for a competitive compensation package to attract and retain a great staff. The School continues to focus on areas of the budget that allow it to stay competitive in an era of 1-2% per pupil revenue increases. Some examples include turning the food service program from a loss to approximately break-even, exceeding fundraising targets, and continuing improvement in a cash management program increased the School's days cash on hand at the end of the fiscal year.

Budgetary Comparison

An annual budget for 2020 – 2021 was established prior to June 30, 2021. One budget revision was approved during the fiscal year to better reflect the estimated forecast of the School.

Parnassus board and management use the budget as an important tool to make prudent decisions in the ongoing management of the school. The Board reviews the school's financial progress monthly and values its ability to maintain financial flexibility as circumstances change. The primary metrics that are reviewed are the annual surplus, the resulting fund balance, and financial covenants.

Regarding the financial covenants, the School's emphasis on cash management resulted in an increase of days cash on hand from 86 days in 2020 to 97 days in 2021. This is based on using the fund financial statements, excluding the Building Company Fund.

As detailed in Note 1:F of the annual audit report, Parnassus was relatively close to budget in 2021. General fund revenues were 0.9% above budget while prudent expense controls led to a favorable 1.3% budget deviation. The net result was an annual surplus of approximately $648,397.

Fund Balance Analysis

Parnassus Preparatory School's fund balance (reserves) grew to almost $4,030,523 in 2021. The school remains at its stated goal of maintaining a fund balance of at least 25% of annual expenditures. Parnassus' budgeting philosophy is unchanged; it manages its finances to deliver a fund balance that meets this goal. The Board and Executive Director will continue to look for ways to manage financials in order to maintain a great teaching staff and invest in the school's program to provide students with a classical education that is grounded in the classical Trivium and that demands students' best in intellectual achievement and character development.
