Winter Reading Challenge

School of Rhetoric

For the next few weeks, we are challenging our School of Rhetoric students to place a special emphasis on tracking their reading. School of Rhetoric students who read 1000 pages or more between now and January 15, 2024, will receive a special reward during finals week.

Here's what you need to do:

1. Read at least 1000 pages over the next five weeks - you are allowed to count the pages you read in your assigned novel(s) for English class as well as books you read outside of school for your own enjoyment.

Grade:

- 2. Track your reading using this log. Use the back side if you need more space.
- 3. Before you turn in this log, have a parent sign it AND include the TOTAL number of pages you read.

Student Name (First and Last):

4. Turn this log in to your English teacher (or the main office) by 4:00pm on Monday, January 15th.
